

FRENCH OFFICER IS SENT HERE TO INSTRUCT IN AVIATION WORK

EL PASO is to have an aviation instructor, if a letter received in El Paso today is interpreted correctly.

Max Moys, vice president of the El Paso Bank and Trust company, received a letter today from the Union bank of St. Louis, stating that Capt. Paul Conde, of the French army, is coming here and recommending him to the consideration of the El Paso bank.

The letter says that Capt. Conde is "to be an instructor in aviation at a camp near El Paso."

"Near El Paso" might mean anywhere in this section, but there is no aviation camp at present closer than San Antonio, and El Paso has been expecting one.

It may mean that the air squadron for the 15th cavalry division is coming to Fort Bliss. It was said some time ago that such an organization would be sent here.

One Case Of Tomatoes Dried, 32 Ounces U. S. Can Save Shipping Space In Boats

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—An amendment to the pending agricultural appropriation bill sets aside $250,000 to establish plants for drying vegetables. Great interest is felt here in the possibility of the project, which, it is hoped, will be of notable value in meeting the war food problem next year.

It is proposed to dry vegetables, fruits, and such grains as corn, instead of canning them. Supporters of the government plant scheme point out that while drying plants for dehydration exist, the business will not be built up in private hands quickly enough to meet the war emergency.

Will Save Shipping Space. As a war measure, the significance of the dehydration project lies in the fact that dried vegetables have an enormous amount of freight car and ocean going tonnage. The quality and flavor of the product are not affected by the drying process.

The drying process is a simple one. The vegetables are cut into small pieces and are then dried in a dehydrator. The dried vegetables are then packed in cans or in bulk.

How Is It Done. Tomatoes are a good example for the drying process. They are cut into small pieces and are then dried in a dehydrator. The dried tomatoes are then packed in cans or in bulk.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE TO BE BUILT AT TUCSON FOR BURROS

Tucson, Ariz., March 25.—In order to get nearer the source of supply, a burro slaughtering enterprise, the California Slaughterhouse company, may remove its works from Los Angeles to a point near Tucson. A plant capable of handling from 100 to 200 burros a month can be provided for about $15,000. The output would be for mechanical uses, hides and fertilizer.

The meat is said to be very good, eminently well suited for human consumption, but no active demand is made on the hills of Arizona, west of the Colorado river. Thousands of burros still roam the hills and foothills, and the grazing authorities urge their removal as a nuisance to the cattle and sheep. A larger supply is to be secured from Sonora.
